Benefit from terminology worldwide

WebTerm enables you to give each and every user the terminology they need for their work – i.e. for their area of expertise, for their language combination(s), and with any extra information that may be relevant – on their PC, tablet or smartphone. This helps them find exactly the terminology they're looking for quickly and easily – without either falling short of information or having to sift through masses of irrelevant terms.

Work on terminology worldwide

Your local experts, to whom you have granted the relevant rights, can work on terminology directly in WebTerm, where they can access a centralised database via controlled terminology processes or online discussion forums. The detailed user roles and rights concept ensures that users can only access the areas they are supposed to, thus allowing you to keep a tight rein on your terminology.
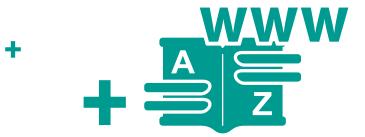

Increase efficiency through user feedback

The comment functions allow users to quickly and easily make suggestions about existing terminology and terms they would like to add or change. In addition to this feedback, terminologists can use detailed statistics about search queries, including queried terms that were found and queried terms that did not yield any results. This makes it possible for you to focus your terminology work specifically on the areas that bring maximum benefit to your users.

The benefits for you

- Clear global communication through the use of consistent and standardised company wording

- Controlled validation and feedback processes for reporting back from the market

- A comprehensive data model with freely configurable value lists, input validation checks and filter functions

- Suggestion management with multiple validation steps

- Access to up-to-date, validated terminology – from anywhere, at any time

- A detailed roles and rights concept to control read/write access

- Easy to adapt to your CI and integrate into different company web portals
